Ask yourself…

Are you worried about a family member who drinks too much or uses drugs?

Are you up late at night waiting for a child, partner, or other family member to return home intoxicated?

Are you on the verge of bankruptcy because your family member/partner has lost a job due to substance abuse?

Are you constantly fighting over a family member's substance abuse?

Then contact High Point.

FAMILY TREATMENT

HELPS EVERYONE

High Point

knows the importance of families in helping individuals getting on the road to recovery.

Families Can

- Intervene when their family member is using drugs and hasn't acknowledged having a problem. We can help you plan an intervention that will lead to treatment.
- Increase their awareness of the impact addiction also has on each member of a family.
- Improve family functionality through education and treatment.
- Recover through family treatment services. High Point can increase the communication, bringing your family closer.

Team of Professionals

Interventional coaching, education, and family treatment are provided by an interdisciplinary team of experienced, caring, competent staff.

Referrals and Fees

High Point accepts referrals from clients, state agencies, and other health and human service providers.

Payment for services is accepted from most insurance companies, MassHealth, and self-payment.

A reduced fee/sliding scale is offered for clients who qualify.

Inpatient Sites

Section 35– Families are invited to come to family treatment during a family member's civil commitment.

The CASTLE– An integral part of treatment for adolescents is involvement of their families.

Inpatient detoxes and clinical stabilization units– Referrals to necessary family treatment(s) are always available.

Outpatient Sites

At all of our Outpatient sites, staff can help you to bring your loved one into treatment. We can also help you educate yourself, and gain peace and direction in your own life.

Through family treatment services, your family can again become a functioning, cohesive family unit.
